Dr. Philip M. Kayal Fund for Arab American Research

KNOWLEDGE IS POWER

The Arab American community is diverse, often misunderstood, under-represented and under-studied. There is a critical need for new and rigorous publishable research by and about Arab Americans.

The Dr. Philip M. Kayal Fund for Arab American Research was established at the Center for Arab American Philanthropy to support the development of social science research on Arab American communities, and support Arab American scholars researching American social issues, especially those which impact Arab Americans.

Leading this effort is Philip M. Kayal, PhD., chairman emeritus of the Sociology and Anthropology Department at Seton Hall University. Dr. Kayal has worked for more than 40 years to develop scholarship around issues concerning Arab Americans, and now plans to pass the baton to the next generation of scholars.

Effective research will strengthen programs serving the community, educate Americans about the contributions of the Arab American community to this country, and enable Arab Americans to have a stronger voice to shape their future within American society.

About the Center for Arab American Philanthropy (CAAP)

CAAP is a national community foundation. A program of ACCESS, CAAP's objective is to unite and empower the Arab American community by demonstrating the impact of giving together. CAAP improves communities by making grants to nonprofit organizations; serves donors by providing them with smart tools and resources to carry out their philanthropic giving; and builds leaders by educating and inspiring Arab Americans, including youth, to realize their potential for change. Most of all, CAAP shapes perceptions about Arab Americans by highlighting their generous heritage and exceptional contributions to society.
